Burglary suspect attempts suicide in Rockford jail

ROCKFORD (AP)—The only guard on duty at the Purlator Security, Inc., vault on the night it was robbed of $4.3 million has tried twice to kill himself, authorities at the Winnebago County Jail, where he was being held, say.

Ralph Marrera, 31, one of six men charged in the largest cash burglary in U.S. history, received emergency medical treatment Friday after he tried to hang himself with bedsheets and then jammed his head into a toilet bowl in his cell, jail officials said.

Authorities planned to remove him from the jail in Rockford and place him in another institution, where round-the-clock observation could be provided.

More than $1 million taken in the Oct. 20 Purlator burglary was found this week under fresh concrete in the basement of a Chicago bungalow owned by Marrera's grandmother.

Jail officials said Marrera was first found at 11:05 a.m. attempting to hang himself. At 11:40 a.m., they said, he was found attempting to drown himself.

Dr. Mayo Larson, jail physician, treated him and artificial respiration was administered, authorities said. They said they did not know if Marrera was left alone in his cell in the 35 minutes listed between the first and second attempts.

Jail officials said Marrera made no statement after the incidents and had not said or done anything to indicate he might try suicide.

"The guards said he had been in pretty good spirits," a correctional officer said.

Ford man suggests price to break
Middle East stranglehold on oil

WASHINGTON (AP)—Industrial nations might be able to break free from dependence on Middle East oil by guaranteeing high oil prices to spur development of new sources, a Ford administration official suggests.

A guaranteed price of between $7 a barrel and the present world price of $10 might be enough to encourage major oil companies to open up new oil fields around the world, Thomas O. Enders, assistant secretary of state for economic and business affairs, said Friday.

Enders told a hearing of the House-Senate international economics subcommittee that federal subsidies to oil companies might be one way of providing the guarantees in the United States.

But Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., subcommittee chairman, said he thought that if Enders' suggestion became reality, the industrial nations would "become free of tyranny of the oil-producing countries only to be ripped off by the major oil companies."

CUBAN Foreign Minister Raul Roa told the United Nations General Assembly that his country would not resume relations with the United States until the U.S.-led economic blockade of Cuba is lifted.

Arrest DSS employee for patient attack

A Dixon State School employee was arrested Friday for an attack on a patient which resulted in a broken arm for William Triphahn.

Charged with reckless conduct on a Dixon Police warrant was Mary L. Groshans, 22, 1211 E. River Rd.

Police detectives were called to Cottage A-13 on Nov. 18 to investigate the incident. Authorities said Triphahn's arm was pulled behind his back by the Groshans woman, after he refused to get up from a bench inside the cottage.

The patient's arm was forced upward and twisted, causing a break above the elbow, police said.

The Groshans woman was taken to the Law Enforcement Center, where she was released on bond and scheduled to appear in court Dec. 12.

Winter blast spreads from Kansas; snow to 8 inchesUMW campaigns to get pact approval

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—United Mine Workers officials began a campaign in the coal fields today to win approval of the proposed soft-coal contract and avoid a prolonged strike which could further cripple the nation's economy.

The nearly three-week-old strike has already idled at least 23,000 employees in other industries, mostly steel and railroad workers. Government economists say a four-week strike could idle as many as 400,000 persons.

The union has embarked on a wide-ranging effort to publicize the contract in the coal fields, beginning with district meetings of local officials today and with radio and television spots throughout the weekend.

The 120,000-member union will conduct secret balloting Monday with the results expected to be known late that night, UMW President Arnold Miller said. If ratified, the contract would take effect at 12:01 a.m. Wednesday.

Miller predicted the contract would receive approval from 60 per cent of the miners. But the agreement, calling for a 64 per cent increase in wages and benefits over a three-year period, could be in trouble in several coalfield regions.

At a meeting of about 100 miners in Logan County Friday, many expressed dissatisfaction with wage and pension provisions, as well as the absence of a clause on the right to strike over local issues.

A spokesman for the dissident Miners Committee to Defend the Right to Strike said a caravan of vehicles planned to meet at Beckley, W.Va., today and drive through the southern West Virginia coalfields to express opposition to the contract.

On Friday, between 200 and 300 placard-carrying miners rallied in Bellaire, Ohio, to protest the contract.

An unsigned leaflet distributed at the meeting said of the proposed contract: "Some of its provisions are worse than the hated and bitterly resisted 1971 contract. We struck after the last contract to lessen the wage gap between the highest and lowest paid."

Miller, who took over the union in 1973, said he was not concerned that some coal miners apparently felt that "I sold them out. Some would vote against anything I brought back."

He said it would have taken several months to get a clause guaranteeing the right to strike over local issues into the contract. He said the new grievance procedure should work out satisfactorily.

Miller said improvements in safety provisions were "tremendous." He said safety had been at the top of the list of negotiating priorities and wages had been sixth.

Sugarless bread for
2 cents less per loaf

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Government researchers say they have found a way to make high protein bread without using sugar, which could save the country millions of pounds of costly sugar.

The sugar-free method could also be used in baking regular bread, thereby reducing the production cost of a one-pound loaf by about two cents, said Karl F. Finney, a cereal chemist at the U.S. Grain Marketing Research Center in Manhattan, Kan.

"By eliminating sugar it decreases the cost of producing bread," said Finney in a telephone interview. "In this particular time when sugar's so expensive it can actually reduce the cost of bread production to the consumer."

The country could save each day more than $1 million in bread production costs and over 3 million pounds of sugar by eliminating sugar as an ingredient, Finney said.

The equivalent of 50 million one-pound loaves of white bread is produced per day in the United States, the American Bakers Association estimates.

Results of the government research were released here by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service. Four researchers, including Finney, conducted the study in Kansas.

Finney said the addition of soy flour and soy grits to the bread can produce a high protein product that provides as much protein as premium meats, at half the price.

"One of the big advantages I think is in the case of children," he said. "So many kids eat a lot of bread with peanut butter and jelly and things like that. This way they could get a complete protein (diet) at quite a little bit less than it would cost if they ate only meat."

In the past, addition of high protein soy flour has generally made bread appear overbaked, thus unacceptable to the consumer, Finney said. But this excessive browning can be eliminated if sugar is not added, Finney said.

A one-pound loaf of the high-protein, sugar-free bread would cost about 50 to 55 cents, he said.

Finney said that traditionally sugar has been added to bread to create carbon dioxide, which makes the bread rise. But he said increasing the amount of malted grains added to the flour can break some of the starch into sugar.

The average housewife could conceivably bake her own high protein bread without sugar, but supermarkets do not now carry the necessary malted grains, he said.

Finney said application of the sugarless approach to making high protein bread was first disclosed last month. But he said the sugar-free method of making regular bread was first published in 1972 and no baking firm has yet adopted it.

"It's just too new," he said. "You know, it's unbelievable how an obvious application will not be picked up and applied until somebody points it up."

Castro willing to sell sugar to United States

MIAMI (AP)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro says he would be willing to sell sugar to the United States, where housewives are complaining bitterly of high sugar prices.

"We are not in a hurry to sell to the Yankees," Castro said in a Havana Radio broadcast monitored Friday night in Miami. But he suggested that it may become convenient for the United States to buy from its island neighbor to the south.

Cuba, a major sugar supplier to the United States before Castro seized power in 1959, has been largely supplanted by other sources since the Organization of American States instituted diplomatic and economic sanctions against the Communist nation.

However, several Latin American nations already trade with Cuba and have urged the official lifting of the sanctions.

Earlier in the 2-hour, 40-minute speech, Castro charged that Haiti, Guatemala and Bolivia "sold themselves impudently" when they abstained from the OAS vote on whether to maintain the sanctions.

The three joined the United States, Brazil and Nicaragua in abstaining earlier this month as the move to end the 10-year-old sanctions died on a 12-3 vote, two votes short of the 14 needed.

Diplomatic sources at the OAS meeting said Haiti and Guatemala had been counted among probable supporters of the move to end the sanctions.

The United States had been outwardly neutral throughout the meeting, though it had supported the blockade in the past.

Castro said Chile, Paraguay and Uruguay, the only nations which voted to retain the sanctions, were "the three typical fascists of the continent."

Castro spoke at the end of the second congress of the Cuban Women's Federation.

Honored by the Cuban government were 17 foreign women attending the meeting. They included black revolutionary Angela Davis of the United States, Soviet astronaut Valentina Tereskova, and Hortensiu Bussi, widow of deposed Chilean president Salvador Allende.

U.S. will not forcibly seek to get oil price reductions: Simon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Treasury Secretary William Simon says in an interview published here today that U.S. military intervention to secure lower oil prices is "unthinkable and ridiculous."

But the Beirut newspaper Daily Star quotes Simon as saying that the United States will push ahead for lower oil prices. The comments were made to a Daily Star editor in Washington.

Simon told the newspaper that King Faisal of Saudi Arabia "should be commended" because he "has been a leader in wisdom and courage and in understanding the danger that the higher prices of oil are causing for the world economy."

The United States is seeking cooperation, and not confrontation with the oil producing nations, Simon told the editor. He said he will be making another trip to the Middle East in December.

Simon said the United States is importing 7.7 million barrels of oil a day, one million barrels less than last year. He said the figure will be reduced to 5.3 million barrels by 1975.

By The Associated Press
A moisture-filled autumn storm hit the nation's midsection with heavy snow today and put highway travel on treacherous footing from Kansas to Illinois.

Winter-storm watches were out for Ohio and western Pennsylvania--far ahead of regions already staggered with 4 to 8 inches of snow. A heavy-snow watch ranged over most of Indiana and into Lower Michigan.

Travel advisories extended from Iowa south to Arkansas and east to Michigan.

Six to 8 inches of snow buried a narrow band of central and southern Missouri from Springfield to High Point and Columbia. Four-inch accumulations spilled northeastward through central Illinois.

Snowpacked and icy roads were common in sections of Missouri and Illinois. Sleet added to the woes of travelers in areas south of the snow belt as temperatures hovered in the lower 30s and slid lower.

Thunderstorms crackled across the lower Mississippi Valley, and rain soaked a broad area from Southern Illinois to Louisiana.

Temperatures moderated somewhat from a day earlier, but the National Weather Service said more than three-quarters of the nation remained below-freezing in the predawn hours. Subzero cold numbed parts of the central Rockies.

Fair weather was confined mostly to the Southwest and the Northeast. Fog shrouded parts of California during the early hours.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from -3 at Leadville, Colo., to 82 at Naples, Fla.

Some other reports: Anchorage 33 partly cloudy, Atlanta 48 cloudy, Boston 28 clear, Buffalo 20 partly cloudy, Chicago 37 light snow, Cincinnati 33 partly cloudy, Cleveland 34 cloudy, Dallas 30 clear, Denver 9 clear, Detroit 29 partly cloudy, Honolulu 73 clear, Indianapolis 35 cloudy, Kansas City 25 cloudy, Los Angeles 58 partly cloudy, Louisville 38 cloudy, Miami 74 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 30 light snow, Nashville 42 partly cloudy, New York 30 clear, Philadelphia 33 clear, Phoenix 45 clear, Pittsburgh 28 clear, St. Louis 36 light rain, San Francisco 49 partly cloudy, Seattle 40 cloudy, Washington 33 partly cloudy.

Ol, Man Winter
slugs Illinois

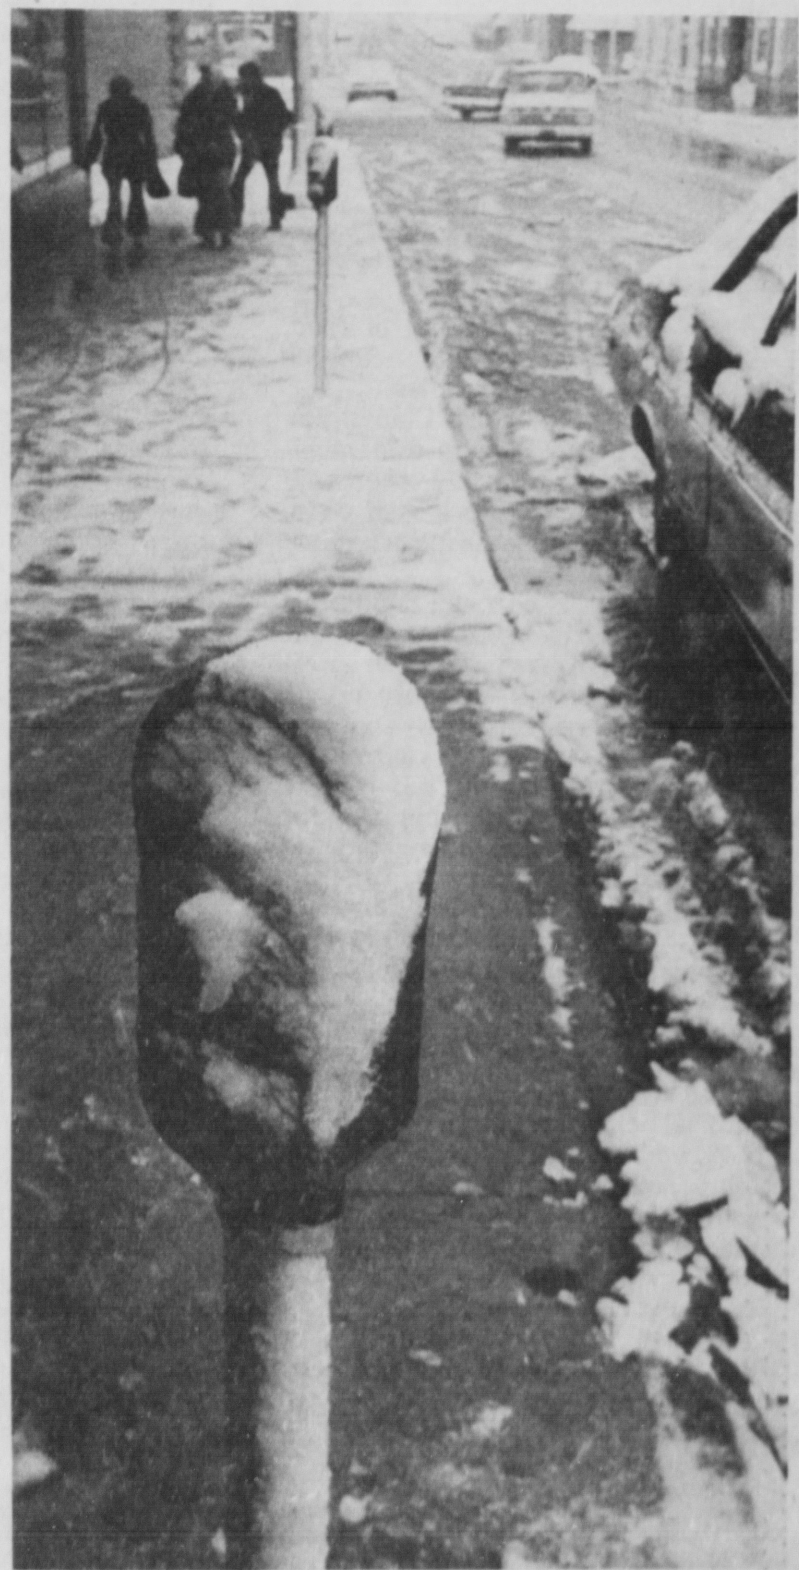

By The Associated Press
The season's first heavy snowfall brought hazardous driving conditions and National Weather Service warnings to Illinois today as the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend began to wind down.

Up to 6 inches piled up western Illinois before noon and more was predicted throughout the day.

Some roads were snowpacked in the northwestern corner of Illinois, while hazardous driving conditions were reported throughout the northern and central areas. Streets and expressways in the Chicago area were becoming slick, with special problems reported on bridges, overpasses and expressway ramps.

By dawn, the snow extended from Eastern Missouri and Iowa across Southern Wisconsin and the northern two-thirds of Illinois into Northwestern Indiana. Rain was falling in the southern third of Illinois.

Graphic illustration of snow's impact

INSTANT WINTER—It's not the white fluffy stuff that has socked the northern Illinois area with up to four inches of snow, but more the wet slushy kind. Flurries hit the area at mid-afternoon Friday and have continued since with forecasters calling for more of the same with colder temperatures. The scene above may irritate the Dixon Police Department meter division while checking for overtime parking in the business district and shoppers may just get the benefit of the doubt. Skyjacking plague

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

Still another airliner has been skyjacked—this time British. Forty-seven innocent, uninvolved, terror-stricken people were aboard.

The three Palestinian guerrillas, defying the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), directed their skyjacked plane to Tunis and there demanded the release of 13 fellow guerrillas held in Cairo.

Egypt, opposing this, bitterly blasted Libya for "harboring and training Palestinian renegades." And, as developments expanded, the skyjackers are suspected of being part of a cabal to whom West Germany paid a $5 million ransom for a skyjacked Lufthansa jet, although Bonn has never stated who got the millions.

In the skyjackings that plague the world, the skyjackers seem willing to commit self-destruction.

It's like watching a Japanese making ready for the seppuku along with the trusted Kaishaku who chops off his head the moment the knife goes home—laying out the red mat, placing the short knife on the table, preparing its plunge with ritual deliberation.

Obviously, international cooperation against skyjackers is the only conceivable solution. The United States has always tried—and always failed.

Shortly after George H. Bush became American Ambassador to the United Nations (Feb. 10, 1974), the United States supported its previous attempts in the United Nations with an iron-clad resolution designed to stop skyjacking horrors. Ambassador Bush sadly cited to me what happened in the General Assembly. "Extremists predominated against us," Ambassador Bush told me, "and moderates who opposed international skyjacking and terrorism feared to speak out because they felt they'd appear less oriented or loyal to their bloc."

Thirteen African and Asian nations held a secret meeting on the United States resolution against skyjackers. Only one voted in favor of it. That one vote came from the Philippines. It was cast by Carlos P. Romulo, called by President Ford "America's best friend in the Philippines."

The world isn't getting smaller, as we seem to insist. It is getting bigger and more speeded up and complicated and harder to understand

Jobless, inflation

By DON OAKLEY

A scarcity of jobs, not of food, may be the real challenge facing the world in the coming decades.

According to a Ford Foundation study—"Employment in the Developing Nations"—despite economic gains in many less-developed countries, unemployment is increasing at an alarming rate.

Because of unchecked population growth, the labor forces of the developing nations have been growing twice as fast as those of advanced countries and will nearly double over the next 30 years. Joblessness, as high as 10 per cent in many cities, is double that rate for the 15-24 age group in many places.

Visible unemployment in the urban centers of developing countries is but "the tip of an iceberg." Other forms of underutilized labor include those working less than they would like to work, those engaged in "second choice" activities and those prematurely retired.

The belief that full employment and redistribution of income would follow naturally from economic growth has not been borne out. In many cases, policies adopted by the developing countries themselves have aggravated unemployment—for example, the introduction of technology designed for advanced economies that created few job opportunities, and the failure to disperse capital to rural areas where employment needs are greatest.

Among the study's recommendations:

—Because international barriers to trade, migration and the flow of capital and information seriously constrain the generation of employment opportunities in developing countries, one way advanced countries can help is gradually to eliminate their inefficient, labor-intensive industries and open their markets for products which less-developed countries can produce competitively.

—Developing countries in turn can increase employment opportunities by encouraging more labor-intensive products, by diffusing economic activity to the countryside and by eliminating capital subsidies which tend to favor the more glamorous, technologically advanced means of production.

"Programs for increasing food production and limiting population growth are natural and straightforward parts of a war on hunger," notes Ford Foundation president McGeorge Bundy in a foreword to the study.

Unemployment, on the other hand, "seems a rather more elusive evil, and discouragingly unresponsive to the direct 'make-work' programs that have been tried in many countries."

Briton tells Ultra secret

By DON OAKLEY

One of the most amazing stories to come out of World War II is the revelation in a book just published in England, "The Ultra Secret," that almost from the beginning of the war British intelligence had cracked the German high command's code.

According to the book's author, retired Group Capt. F. W. Winterbotham, a top member of the "Ultra" team of cryptographers from Dunkirk to D-day to the surrender of the Allies intercepted and deciphered nearly every radio communication from Hitler and his generals to the Wehrmacht, Luftwaffe and German navy—sometimes even before they were received by commanders in the field. "Ultra" was the name of a vast, supersecret system built around machines used to crack the German "Enigma" code.

"We knew where every German was and what he was going to do," says Winterbotham.

It is impossible to estimate the number of lives saved by this capability or the number of months, if not years, by which the war was shortened. One measure is the fact that the Battle of the Bulge, one of the Allies' worst setbacks, occurred because the German commander, von Rundstedt, did not use radio to disseminate his orders for the surprise counterattack.

What is no less amazing is that Hitler came as close to winning the war as he did even with one hand, in effect, tied behind his back. Like the Japanese, the cracking of whose code by the Americans made possible such victories as the Battle of Midway, he never suspected. One can only speculate, with a chill creeping up the spine, what history would have been like without this almost unbelievable achievement by the geniuses of code-breaking.

Will they or won't they?

The audience at the first in a series of public lectures on energy sponsored by the Graduate School of Business of the University of Chicago heard some good news.

The price of crude oil will come down and the international oil cartel will subsequently break down—according to Robert Z. Aliber, professor of international economics and finance at the university.

The reason is that as the costs of paying for oil accumulate, oil-importing countries must necessarily curb their imports, thus driving down the price of oil. Falling prices, Aliber, went on, will then generate intense pressures on cartel members to increase production and breakdown of the cartel will follow.

The audience at the second in a series of public lectures on energy sponsored by the Graduate School of Business of the University of Chicago heard some bad news.

The oil cartel is not likely to fall apart and may well survive into the 1980s—according to Morris A. Adelman, professor of economics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and a leading authority on the petroleum industry.

The cartel, not a shortage of oil or a world upsurge in demand, is responsible for high prices, said Adelman. Hence any reduction in demand for oil is not likely to result in lower prices but may even increase them.

Well, as they say, you pays your money and you takes your choice—except that this particular lecture series, happily, was free.

Driving men

Females may outnumber males in the general population, but it's still a man's world on the highway.

According to the Federal Highway Administration, male drivers outnumbered female drivers in all age groups in 38 states out of the 43 that were able to supply the agency with actual or estimated counts of licensed drivers at the end of 1973.

The ratio in the reporting states was 55.3 per cent male and 44.7 per cent female. This was a change from the 60.2 per cent male and 39.8 per cent female ratio found in 19 states in 1963, but not as much of a change as the experts had expected.

There is still a surprising degree of consistency among the states in the percentage of male drivers. More than 94 per cent of the states vary within only 3 points of the national average. However, there was an 8.7 per cent difference between Ohio, which had the highest proportion of male drivers at 60.3 per cent, and Connecticut, which at 51.6 per cent was the lowest state.

A complete understanding of the reasons for this variance, says the agency, "would require an in-depth study of many factors, including the elements of motivation, vehicle availability and income levels."

Inflation: cause and cure -- Part 1

By W. PHILIP GRAMM

We are today experiencing the most prolonged period of rapid inflation in the history of the United States. While we have had short periods where inflation rates have been more intense, a decade of 5 per cent plus average inflation is without precedent in the history of the Republic. As an index of how severe price increases have been for the last decade, the consumer price index, which measures the price of the market basket of goods and services purchased by the American consumer, is up 57 per cent and the wholesale price index, which measures the price of raw materials used in the production processes, is up 65 per cent from a decade ago. Not only have we experienced a decade of high inflation rates, but in the last year the rate of price increase has quickened. The consumer price index is up 12 per cent from a year ago and the wholesale price index is up 20 per cent. These harsh economic facts suggest two questions: (1) how did we get in such a mess, and (2) how do we get out?

The first question is easy to answer. We have data on inflation which goes back to the 15th century, when gold was discovered in America, transported to Spain, and permeated the European market. Since that time there has never been a prolonged general price inflation in recorded history that was not preceded by and directly related to a growth in the money supply. In our economy a growth in the money supply occurs principally when the government spend more than it taxes and prints money to make up part of the difference.

We have incurred five major inflations in the history of the United States: the Revolutionary War inflation, the War of 1812 inflation, the Civil War inflation, the World War II inflation, and the Vietnam War inflation. All five of these inflations have had the same cause: a rapid increase in the money supply. Under the Articles of Confederation the Continental Congress did not have the power to tax. It was therefore forced to issue paper currency to fight the Revolutionary War. The paper currency units were called Continental Dollars. You have all heard the saying "not worth a Continental," a statement derived from the fact that when Continental Dollars were redeemed at the end of the Revolutionary War, they were redeemed at 2 cents on the dollar in gold and silver. The paper currency depreciated very rapidly because of the tremendous quantity which was issued. In essence, the Continental Congress was coming on the American market and competing against private citizens for goods and services with newly issued Continental currency, buying goods at a more rapid rate than the economy was producing them. Prices, therefore, were driven up.

It is important to note, however, in reviewing our first inflationary experience as a nation that at the end of the Revolutionary War the Congress established the First Bank of the United States, which systematically withdrew Continental Notes from circulation. Prices then leveled off and fell back toward their original level.

The next major inflation in American history was the War of 1812 inflation, which was basically a carbon copy of the Revolutionary War inflation. The principal method of deriving federal revenue was imposing import taxes or tariffs. But we were at war with our major trading partner, England, and tariffs had fallen off drastically. In order to fight the war we therefore issued tremendous quantities of paper currency and produced a rise in general price level. Again, however, to the credit of our forebears, when the war was over the Congress established a Second Bank of the United States that redeemed paper currency at par. Prices leveled off and declined back to their original level as the paper currency was withdrawn from circulation.

The next major inflation in American history occurred during the American Civil War. The federal government ran a billion dollar deficit, which was without precedence in history. It financed a large part of this deficit by issuing Greenback Notes. These Greenback Notes expanded the money supply by over 150 per cent, and prices roughly doubled from 1860 to 1865. At the end of the war taxes were left at their wartime level and government spending was cut back drastically. The government surplus drew Greenbacks out of circulation and the treasurer of the United States burned them. As the money supply declined prices fell off, and by 1879 we went back on the gold standard at exactly the same par value that existed in 1860 because prices had been driven back down to their previous level.

The next major inflation in American history occurred in World War II. The federal government ran a large deficit and the money stock grew 140 per cent as the Federal Reserve Bank monetized a part of the debt. As the government entered the market armed with newly printed money, it drove up prices, increasing overall prices by over 60 per cent during the Second World War. By 1946 we had balanced the budget, and by 1947 price increases had ceased. We established a period from 1947 to 1962 which proved to be one of the most prolonged period of stable prices and stable economic growth in the 20th Century.

Things Dixon Talked About

25 YEARS AGO

Logan Street area property owners presented their third petition to the City Council last night demanding the installation of sewers. Twice-defeated in their attempts to swap "chic sales" for sewers, the property owners added their hope that work begin by spring. If the petition hurdles all legal obstacles, a special assessment will be levied against the property owners involved, to pay the cost of extending the sewer system.

There will be a joint practice for all members of the Girl Scout chorus, Thursday at 3:30 p.m. at the Loveland Community House. This is the last opportunity to join the chorus.

Members of the South Dixon Willing Workers 4-H Club held their third meeting of the year at the Red Brick School recently. The meeting opened with 4-

H songs and the pledge.

The Dixon Legion wound up its 1924 football season Sunday afternoon by defeating the Sterling Legion squad by a score of 9 to 0. It was one of those games in which both teams played straight football and resorted to the old style of play in an effort to win.

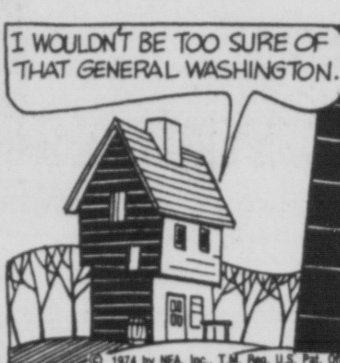

Delight and satisfaction were read in every countenance yesterday afternoon as the representative Dixon audience left the beautiful Dixon Theatre after the benefit concert for the Community Nurse's fund.

A benefit for the YMCA Boys' Band is to be shown at the Dixon Theatre Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The picture is "Classmates," and is one of the best pictures of the year.

Today is Saturday, Nov. 30, the 334th day of 1974. There are 31 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1782, the United States and Britain signed preliminary peace articles in Paris ending the Revolutionary War.

On this date:
In 1864, one of the bloodiest conflicts of the Civil War, the Battle of Franklin, Tennessee, was fought.

In 1874, the British statesman, Sir Winston Churchill, was born.

In 1939, the Soviet Union attacked Finland.

In 1942, during World War II, U.S. bombers struck at Japanese forces holding Rangoon, Burma.

In 1949, the Chinese Communists captured Chungking, China.

In 1962, General U Thant of Burma was elected secretary general of the United Nations.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union launched a space craft toward Mars, in an apparent 325 million mile race with the U.S. Mariner 4.

Five years ago: Israeli jets struck Egyptian positions twice in the Suez Canal area after ground forces had repulsed a major Egyptian commando raid.

Today's birthdays: Actor Errem Zimbalist Jr. is 51.

Thought for today: Provision for others is a fundamental responsibility of human life — President Woodrow Wilson, 1856-1924.

ARMSTRONG'S
NEW INSTALLATION SYSTEM
MAKES CEILINGS
LOOK

LIKE THIS . . . NOT THIS!

Chandelier Ceiling suspended from grid. Conventional suspended ceiling.

COME TO OUR CEILING CLINIC

MON. DEC. 2 6:30 P.M.

We're having a ceiling clinic to introduce a new, easier way to install Chandeliers/Ceilings — using the Integrated System by Armstrong. You are invited to come, without any obligation to buy and see a demonstration showing step by step how to do it. Suspended below obstructions or light to your old ceiling. Integrated ceiling all your ceiling problems beautifully, because you can't see its metal grid. And since the big 1' x 4' Chandelier tiles have no bevels, seams virtually disappear, creating a continuous wall to wall pattern.

For Sunday, Dec. 1, 1974

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Pay particular heed to what you eat today. Don't sample or overindulge in foods your system finds disagreeable.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Because you're a bit too gullible, another will sell you on some rather unsound ideas. Don't be so easily impressed.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's not likely you'll make the most of opportunities presented to you now. You'll fail to appreciate their values.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're apt to start several things today and not properly follow through. This will leave your affairs in a muddled state.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll have to pitch in and do things if you want them done right. Favors you ask today will be ignored or poorly handled.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Try not to get too many people involved in your present plans. Everyone will want to project their ideas. Yours will be overpowered.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's going to be difficult for you today to please everybody. Unfortunately you'll have to try. You're caught in the middle.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Give others a chance to express their thoughts, though their views oppose yours. Could be they have some valid points to make.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be wary at this time of promotional schemes presented to you by entrepreneur types or you'll be left holding the bag.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) On impulse you'll make a commitment that you won't take seriously, but the other party will. It could spell trouble later.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) These next few days don't buy a lot of equipment or materials for a do-it-yourself project unless you're sure they'll be used.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) How you conduct yourself socially today will later be discussed by some friends. Be sure their impressions are favorable.

Dec. 1, 1974

This year you'll find yourself involved in several enterprises, each of a different nature. One has real promise. The others will just keep you busy and anxious.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE C-612: Frev. H. F. Jenkins is a popular clergyman at Cartersville, Ga.

And his parishioners relish his sermons for he has a good sense of humor.

Alas, many young clergymen (and some older ones, too) affect an intellectual pose and thus become "stodgy" speakers because of their fondness for big words.

Pastor Jenkins makes his sermons sparkle with wholesome humor which is relevant but productive of laughter.

In stressing the value of tact (applied psychology) he uses this story:

A man walked into a large hardware store and asked the young clerk at the front, for half a length of stovepipe.

The clerk strolled back to the rear, where his employer was working, but didn't notice that the customer had followed him.

"Boss," the clerk began irritably, "some dumb jerk just asked me for half a length of stovepipe."

Then, suddenly noticing the customer at his elbow, the clerk added:

"But this nice gentleman says he'll take the other half off our hands!"

Bible Humor

Rev. Jenkins also is versatile in meeting questions.

"Pastor," one of his young parishioners asked, "why did God make Adam first?"

And without hesitating a moment, Pastor Jenkins replied:

"Because he didn't want Eve standing around telling Him how to do it!"

Jesus also employed humor in His sermonizing, for He made His audiences laugh via use of hyperbole.

Hyperbole is the standard tool of Bob Hope, Red Skelton and other modern jokesters, for it is extravagant exaggeration to the point of utter ridiculousness.

"Ye strain at gnats," Jesus thus began, "but swallow camels."

Again, He resorted to such exaggeration when He warned:

"Why beholdest thou the mote (speck) in your brother's eye but considerest not the beam (saw log) in your own eye?"

Obviously, the audiences laughed at such ludicrous analogies.

"Quote" magazine (Anderson, S. C.) is the ally of all professional public speakers and should be a preacher's mainstay, next to the Bible, for it publishes not only striking "quotes" of leading men each week, but adds three pages of wholesome humor.

Mis-labeling of products being studied

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Government label watchers say consumers may be confused by "Danish Brand Ham" since they might believe the meat was imported from Denmark, but they think everybody knows "Moon Sausage" really does not come from outer space.

The Agriculture Department, therefore, wants to clarify what it calls "geographic labeling" of meat and poultry products. So under a proposed change in regulations now under study any product called "Danish Brand Ham" would be mislabeled unless it came from Denmark.

"Fanciful names, such as 'Moon Sausage,' would be permitted since the place of origin would not normally be confusing to the consumer," the department says.

A spokesman for the department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, which is considering the tighter label requirements, said there was no record of "Moon Sausage" and that the term was dreamed up as an illustration.

"You could say the same about 'Mars Meatloaf' or 'Satellite Salami' since those also are fanciful," the spokesman said. "As far as I know no astronaut has gone into business up there yet."

Another label which would be banned under the proposal — open for public comment until Feb. 7 — would be "German Sausage" unless the product came from Germany.

Some country-name exceptions would be permitted, however, if "the geographical term is generally understood to identify a particular class or style of product, such as 'Mexican style' or 'Italian style,'" the department said.

Also, there are some familiar products which are classified by geographical names under existing federal regulations, including "Bologna" and "Vienna" sausages. Officials say people know what those mean.

The familiar "Virginia ham" already is protected by federal regulation requiring a product so labeled to be actually produced in Virginia.

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the recent calf-killings by angry farmers it seems hardly anyone has noticed the demise of a baby Mauritius kestrel.

The World Wildlife Fund, however, has set the record straight by announcing: "The Mauritius kestrel chick born in October was killed by an incubator malfunction as rare as the bird."

What happened, the WWF explained, was that a mercury vapor switch controlling the temperature of the incubator exploded. Deprived of warmth, the chick died. It was hatched in captivity in Mauritius as part of a program to prevent extinction of the species, described by the WWF as "the world's rarest bird."

The group said only seven kestrels — small falcons — remained in the wild last year according to a census of their Mauritius habitat.

Blanchard-Lendman nuptial vows

Marriage vows were exchanged at 7 p.m. Nov. 2 in Immanuel Lutheran Church, Dixon, by Marlene Blanchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Johnson, Princeton, and Terry Lendman, son of the William Lendmans, Sterling.

The Rev. Jan Horne, pastor of the church, was the officiating clergyman, and organ accompaniment for vocal selections by Mrs. Floyd Wooden, Polo, was provided by Miss Cora Schafer, Franklin Grove. Decorations for the candlelight ceremony included altar arrangements of yellow and white pompons and yellow satin bow ties.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of candlelight organza over silk taffeta. The gown's bell skirt, accented by a chapel train, was topped by an empire bodice fashioned with a tucked yoke edged with Cluny lace, a wedding-ring collar and bishop sleeves ending in wide lace cuffs. Her mantilla of candlelight illusion was bordered with lace, and the cascading bouquet she carried combined bronze, yellow and white pompons, yellow and orange Sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Roger Bivins, Dixon, who attended the bride as matron of honor, wore a champagne pantsuit with scalloped cuffs, and she carried a nosegay of butterscotch, yellow and bronze pompons, orange star-flowers and baby's breath tied with orange ribbons.

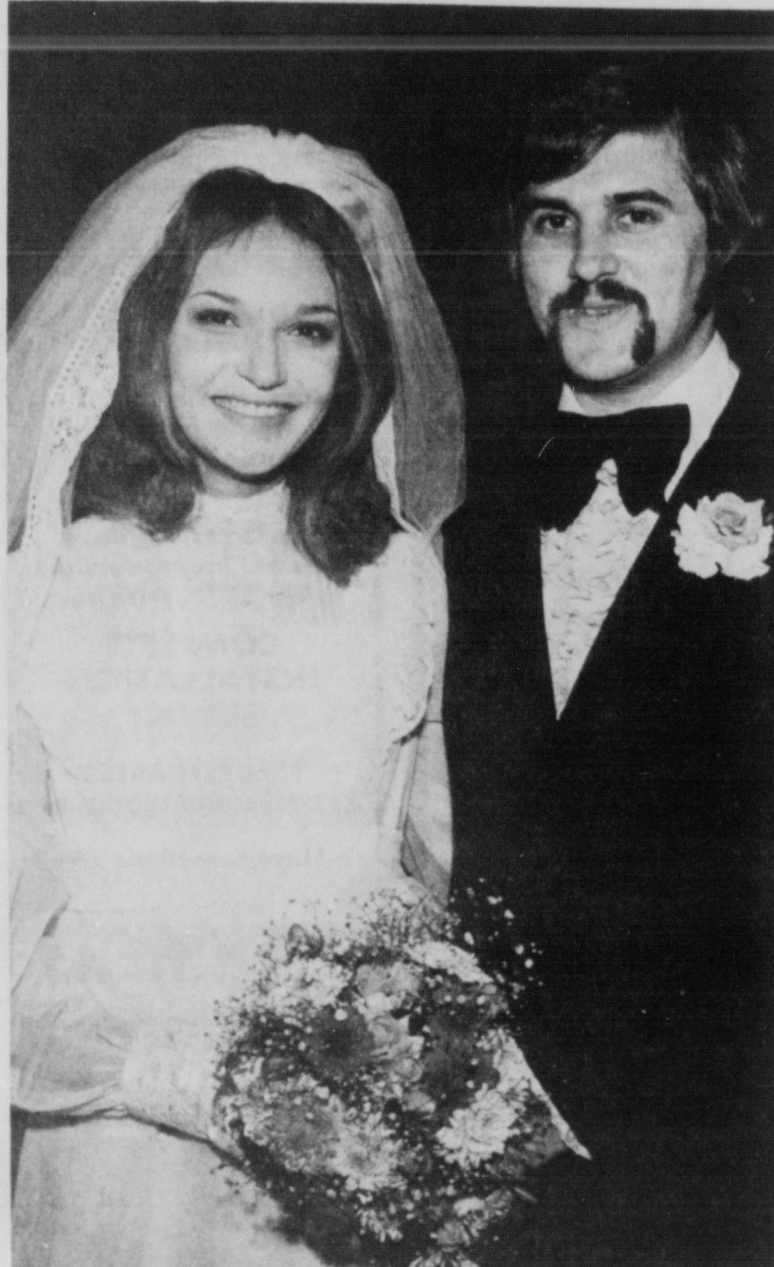

Clark Miller, Sterling, was the bridegroom's best man, and ushers for the ceremony were Steven Abel and James Norris, DeKalb.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Longanecker, Sterling, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom, acted as hosts during a reception held in the Rama Room of the Dixon Ramada Inn following the ceremony when the bride's table held a centerpiece of bronze, yellow and white pompons and baby's breath. Gold candles flanked a three-tiered heart-shaped cake, which was encircled at the base by a garland of leather leaf fern sprays and baby's breath and was topped by a cluster of bronze, yellow and white pompons. The cake was served by Mrs. Michael Gilbert, Dixon, and presiding at the coffee service and punch bowl were Miss Connie Saotoff, Franklin Grove, and Mrs. John Ashby, Dixon. Guests were registered by Miss Beverly Vana, Batavia, sister of the bride, and in charge of the gift table were Mrs. Robert Dimmig and Mrs. John Ristow, Dixon.

The bride and bridegroom, who were driven to the reception in a limousine, have been residing at 1045 Highland Ave., Dixon, since their return from a wedding trip to Nebraska.

Mrs. Lendman, a 1970 graduate of Polo Community High School, is employed as a commercial clerk for the Central Telephone Company, and her husband, who served two years in the Army following his 1967 graduation from Newman Central Catholic High School, Sterling, is a postal clerk at the Dixon Post Office.

MR. AND MRS. TERRY LENDMAN
Little extra chance turns tide

By Oswald & James Jacoby
When we wrote about Hard Luck Joe, we're writing about most fairly good bridge players. These players bid pretty well, they play their cards pretty well, but they don't give themselves every possible chance.

South ran off five rounds of trumps and attacked the clubs. When the suit failed to break, he led a diamond toward his king. West produced the ace and South explained about his bad luck. Clubs had failed to break and the ace of diamonds was held by the wrong defender.

That was bad luck. South's chance to make his contract by one of those two suits behaving better than they had was 68 percent. But South had overlooked a small extra chance that would have brought home his slam without giving up either of the other possibilities.

After drawing trumps South could have cashed his ace and king of spades, entered dummy with a club and led a third spade. East's jack of spades would have dropped under the king; his queen of spades would have been ruffed and dummy's 10 of spades would have been established to allow South one diamond discard.

Just the little extra chance that meant the difference between rags and riches. 30 (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Stocking stuffers

Looking for small gifts for stocking stuffers? Here are some ideas to start your thinking.

For the baby — a rattle, a cloth book, perhaps a pull toy if he's toddling, a pretty shirt that he can wear for "company."

For little sister — barrettes and ribbons for her hair, white gloves for special occasions, frilly socks.

For little brother — coloring books and non-toxic crayons or felt tip pens, new accessories for his train set, a license plate for his bicycle with his name spelled out.

For big sister — lipstick, nail polish, eye makeup, cosmetics of all kinds, note paper for her secret letters, a token holder for her bus fare.

For big brother — a magnetized change holder for the dashboard of his car, some "way-out" aftershave, or a T-shirt sporting a funny slogan.

For mother — a pad of memo paper for market lists, ball point pens to keep in strategic places, a pretty handkerchief, gloves.

For father — a key ring with his initial, pair of driving gloves, a throwaway cigarette lighter, lighter fluid and flints for his chair-side lighter, a tie or a scarf.

For the hobbyist — photography buffs can always use rolls or packs of film, flash bulbs, photo album mounts.

Model plane and ship builders will thank you for sandpaper, turpentine, glue, paint brushes, threaders, clamps, rubber bands and clips.

Would-be writers will appreciate a typewriter ribbon, a ream of paper, a box of carbon paper.

Those who sew and do needlework will enjoy a pretty needle case, a fancy thimble. Stereo buffs will like an automatic duster for cleaning their records.

For someone going to sunny climes right after the holidays, tuck a bottle of suntan lotion in their stocking.

For the home handyman, how about a roll of friction tape, a box of assorted screws, cup hooks, a box of assorted nails, or even a mini tool kit.

Legion Auxiliary plans party

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary met recently in Legion Hall when Mrs. Walter Smith presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Charles Bishop.

Plans were made for a Christmas dinner-party for members of the auxiliary, the Legion Post, and their families Dec. 14 in the hall when the auxiliary will furnish meat for the dinner and members will provide additional food and table service. The party will also include an exchange of $1 holiday gifts.

Donations were made to the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors Home for Children in Normal, and an additional contribution was made for the Dixon Feed the Children program.

Mrs. Albert King, rehabilitation chairman, announced that funds were needed for Hines Hospital, and discarded jewelry is needed for therapy work in several veterans' hospitals. Persons who have jewelry they would like to donate are asked to contact Mrs. Bishop or Mrs. Roy DeWerrf.

Final plans were also made for a meal sponsored recently by the Legion Auxiliary, VFW Auxiliary and the Marine Corps League Auxiliary as a benefit of Winning Wheels Inc.

Prairieville Social Circle

The annual Christmas party for the Prairieville Social Circle is planned for Wednesday with Mrs. Charles Gaumer and will include a 12:30 p.m. scramble luncheon.

Mrs. Gaumer will be assisted by Mrs. Maurice Grobe, and an exchange of $1 holiday gifts will be held.

Dear Ann

by Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm concerned about my 11-year-old son. He has some odd little habits which may mean nothing, but they persist and seem to be getting worse.

For example: Bob intentionally wears one sock inside out. Whenever I mention it, he pretends it was "an accident." He also must have the window shades in his bedroom exactly arranged so there is approximately one inch of light coming through the bottom before he goes to bed.

When he eats, he separates the food on his plate so nothing is touching anything else. I have seen him do this repeatedly. Also, before he eats, he lines up his silverware in a perfect row.

These quirks make me uneasy. Last night for the first time I discussed the subject with my husband. He said, "They don't bother me. If they bother you, just tell the kid to stop the nonsense."

Ann, do these quirks mean anything? If so, what should I do about it? Thanks for your help.—No Name, Please

Dear N.N.: Many people have compulsive habits—small peculiarities known only to themselves. (Remember "If I step on a crack, I'll break my mother's back"?) These "quirks" are rooted in fear and insecurity. To tell a child (or an adult) to "stop the nonsense" rarely does any good. More than will power is needed.

Take your son to a specialist for psychological testing and learn the extent of his insecurity. Your physician can direct you. The boy may need more help than you can give him.

Dear Ann Landers: You settled an argument for us last year and everyone was satisfied. Now will you please help us again?

A long-time friend of ours was so proud he could hardly stand it. His wife gave birth to their first child—a baby girl. This friend (I'll call him Paul) handed my dad a cigar. Dad took it and said "thanks." Paul then gave a cigar to my uncle. My uncle said, "No thanks, I don't smoke." After that, my dad said, "Neither do I," and returned his cigar.

Paul looked very hurt. I say both men should have kept the cigars whether they smoke or not. Yes or no?—J.

Dear J.: A cigar is a traditional symbol of a new father's joy and should always be accepted.

Dear Ann Landers: I'll keep it short in the hope you will print my answer in the paper. Can a girl who has been on the Pill for 15 years have normal children when she goes off the Pill? Thanks for your help.—J.K.

Dear J.K.: If you've been on the Pill for 15 years, you started a year before it went on the market, in 1960.

Many doctors take their patients off the Pill after five or six years because the long-term side effects are (as of now) unknown. Some women ask to be taken off the Pill because they begin to gain weight, feel "different," become hypertensive, notice fluid retention or become alarmed by skin blemishes.

A woman who has been on the Pill for several years might have some difficulty getting pregnant, but there is no evidence that the Pill produces abnormal children.

Who's New Club dessert-bridge

Mrs. Leroy Breitzka and her co-hostess, Mrs. Richard Sedowski, entertained the Who's New Club Tuesday afternoon at a dessert-bridge.

Mrs. Robert Donegan, formerly of Decatur, attended as a guest, and score prizes in bridge were won by Mrs. Donald Bailey, Mrs. Adam Carter and Mrs. Sedowski.

The club's annual Christmas party was planned for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 10 in Loveland Community House, and past members of the organization will be welcome to attend.

Members will be asked to bring three cans of food to the party for three food baskets to be prepared and delivered to needy families by the club. The usual gift exchange will be cancelled, and members will donate money toward the purchase of food for the baskets.

Reservations for the party are to be made with Mrs. Carter, 288-5058.

Lovebirds ...until bedtime!

You're "Mr. & Mrs. Lovebird" every waking hour. But at night, you always fight for more bed room on your cramped, crowded old-fashioned double bed. Double trouble!

What you need is a bigger, better love nest! Like the new, modern Queen size Beautyrest. It gives 20% more resting... and nesting space. (The King size gives 50% more.) That's just the size of it. Here's the rest.

Beautyrest has more than twice the usual number of coils. That means more support. And sleepers have a choice of five Beautyrest firmnesses. That means there's one just right for you. But firmness alone doesn't guarantee proper body support.

That's why Beautyrest is made flexibly firm, not hard and "boardy". It has separate coils that act separately to firmly support only that part of your body they're under. Hip coils support hips... shoulder coils support shoulders, while others firm-up and support your back or sides. Beautyrest is different because it conforms—and so comfortably. It gives every part of your body a good night's rest.

And the cost? The Queen is only a penny more per night than the old-fashioned size. And so you lovebirds won't have problems finding the "bread", we'll arrange very special credit terms.

P.S. No need to buy new furniture for your new Queen size inexpensive Bed Stretchers! They'll make your present bedstead longer and wider. Ask!

Auto layoffs spiraling

DETROIT (AP) — With eight Ford Motor Co. assembly operations shut down and five Chrysler car plants closed, post-Thanksgiving layoffs in the auto industry will number nearly 165,000 next week.

Chrysler layoffs of 71,200 will last throughout the month, while 24,400 of the 39,900 Ford workers who have been laid off are due to return on Dec. 9.

The entire industry is closed today for the second day of the Thanksgiving break.

New Ford layoffs announced Wednesday will affect 3,700 workers indefinitely — bringing to 18,500 the number of Ford employees on indefinite layoffs, including 3,000 white collar employees.

More Ford workers are scheduled to be laid off temporarily later in December. The Ford blue-collar workforce numbers 178,000.

General Motors, with 49,600 laid off this week, will increase its jobless roles to 53,875 next Monday with cutbacks at five plants; 40,000 of the GM workers are laid off indefinitely.

The cutbacks in employment follow buildups in the auto makers' new car stockpiles, estimated this week at 1.75 million unsold cars, or 83 days worth at the current selling rate.

Chrysler was reported to have a 127-day supply of cars; American Motors has a 124-day inventory, Ford has 84 days worth and GM 71.

Sales for the four makers in the mid-November period were off 35 per cent from a year ago.

Car production Thanksgiving week was 86,054, down 59.3 per cent from a year ago, when the makers built 213,584 cars during the three-day work week.

Closed for the three days before Thanksgiving were Chrysler's Hamtramck, Mich., and Newark, Del., plants; GM's Lordstown, Ohio and Willow Run, Mich. factories and AMC's Kenosha, Wis. plant.

All produce small cars, which are not selling well.

Chrysler plants closed Wednesday until Jan. 6 were the Belvidere, Ill., plants and Detroit's Jefferson and Lynch Road factories.

Ford indefinite layoffs announced this week were scattered among 28 plants, with the Dearborn complex hardest hit, losing 1,125 workers.

With the latest layoffs, some 186,000 blue-collar workers in the auto industry will be on temporary or indefinite furloughs in December, including 44,000 at Ford; 70,000 at GM; 64,200 at Chrysler and 8,000 at AMC.

The United Auto Workers said this week it was notified that GM plans to eliminate one of two shifts at its Fremont, Calif., plant beginning Jan. 13, idling 1,600 workers indefinitely. GM officials would not comment on the report.

Is the Army ready for female combatants?

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP) — Federal law prohibits women from drawing combat assignments in America's armed forces. But if the law is changed, Penny Hartley will be ready.

This week Miss Hartley, an Army private, became the first woman to complete the 101st Airborne Division's rugged air assault course.

"It takes an unusual woman to desire to do this and then actually accomplish it," said Maj. James Daily, commandant of the assault school. "She made it on her own, without any special treatment except to be allowed to use the WAC latrine."

Miss Hartley had to hike five miles on a forced march in two hours; run two miles in 16½ minutes; pass a written examination; do 37 situps and 33 pushups in one minute; climb a troop ladder into an airborne helicopter, and rappell off a 40-foot tower.

"I'm glad I did it," said the petite brunette from Jackson County, W.Va. "It was something to do, and I would do it again."

"Once or twice I almost decided to give it up," she confessed, "But always the next morning, I felt better and wanted to go on."

"The course is really tough, but I had encouragement from everyone in the class, and that helped, believe me," she said.

OMVI charge

A Chicago man was jailed Friday night following his arrest by Lee County Sheriff's Deputies on liquor charges.

Richard D. Erickson, 33, was charged with driving under the influence of liquor and illegal transportation of liquor by patrolling deputies along Burkhardt Road near Sublette Road.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Theodore Walker, today.
To Danette Dixon, Dec. 1.

Health group formed

A group of 42 persons met recently in KSB Hospital when a Huntington's Disease Chapter was organized under the guidance of Mrs. Mollie Simon, leader of the Midwest Chapter, Chicago. Huntington's (chorea) disease is an hereditary neuromuscular affliction, and it is estimated that 100,000 people have it.

More than 200 investigators are actively engaged in researching the disease in the areas of early detection, medication, supportive physical and psychotherapy, and basic understanding of the defects. Today, it is not a rare disease, but it is often difficult to diagnose, and is often mistaken for Parkinson disease and multiple sclerosis.

A second chapter meeting for 18 members was held with Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Cruse when the following officers were elected: Mrs. Cruse, president; Mrs. Harold Carlson, secretary, and Mrs. Oren Minnis, treasurer. Attending were members from Dixon, Peoria, Dwight, Rock Falls, Sterling, Amboy, Rockford and from Beloit, Wis.

Meetings will be held on the first Sunday of each month, and the organization has been named the North Central Illinois Chapter.

Chapters are formed in each state, and there are bills being considered by Congress to release money for additional research.

The chapter will meet at 2 p.m. Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carlson, Amboy, and persons interested in membership or obtaining additional information are asked to telephone 288-1935, or 284-7619.

Deaths, Funerals

Emalyne Frisby

Mrs. Emalyne Frisby, 91, died at Orchard Glen Nursing Home Friday following a lengthy illness.

She was born in Polo Jan. 10, 1883, the daughter of Charles and Elizabeth (Hoffman) Wolf. She was a lifelong resident of the Dixon area.

She was preceded in death by her husband, William, and four sisters.

She is survived by one brother, Charles Wolf, Rockford.

Funeral services will be held Monday at Jones Funeral Home with the Rev. Ronald Lindner, pastor of Eldena United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery.

Visitation will be from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

Louis Oesterheld

PEORIA—Louis H. Oesterheld, 92, died at Rochelle Community Hospital early today following a lengthy illness.

He was born in Ashton Nov. 9, 1882, the son of Henry and Anna (Kruse) Oesterheld. His wife preceded him in death.

Survivors include one sister, Mrs. Emma Spangler, Franklin Grove, and several nieces and nephews.

Oesterheld moved to Peoria in 1907 and was a foundry foreman.

Graveside services will be held Monday at the Ashton Cemetery with the Rev. David Frain, pastor of the Ashton United Methodist Church, officiating.

Funeral services will be held preceding burial at the Cluts Funeral Home, Rochelle. There will be no visitation.

Melvin Boyden

OREGON—Melvin D. Boyden, 39, Rt. 2, Oregon, was found dead at his home this morning apparently from natural causes.

An investigation into his death is being conducted by Ogle County Coroner Robert Personette.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete at the Farrell Funeral Home, Oregon.

Counter charge filed

No injuries were reported in a two-car collision Friday at the intersection of South Galena Ave. and River St. Autos involved were driven by Michael J. Fritts, 17, 1321 W. Third St., and Orville C. Rogers, 65, Rt. 1. According to investigating Dixon Police, Rogers, traveling north on Galena, turned left in front of the Fritts auto. Fritts was traveling south on Galena at the time of the accident.

Police cited Fritts for failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident, however Fritts then signed a civil complaint against Rogers for making an improper left turn.

Sauk to host cancer clinic

As a community service, Sauk Valley College will host a special workshop for area women designed to provide information on the psychological and physiological aspects of cancer. The clinic will be held on Dec. 14, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. in the Little Theatre at SVC.

Sponsored in cooperation with the American Cancer Society, the program will feature Dr. Stanislaw Korzenowski, psychiatrist and physician, who will present a lecture entitled "The Psychological and Physiological Aspects of Cancer on the Patient and the Family."

Farm injury hospitalizes Ogle farmer

OREGON — An accident on a Monroe Center farm Friday injured a Davis Junction man. William Allen was picking corn at the Marvin Engelses farm when a picker machine jammed.

In attempts to free the machine, Allen's hand and wrist were pulled into the machine. His hand was freed from the machine by fellow workers and members of the Lindenwood Rescue Unit.

Allen was transported to St. Anthony's Hospital, Rockford, by Monroe Center Ambulance.

Car hits mailbox

OREGON — No injuries were reported in a single-car mishap Friday night on Pines Road.

Dale Drexler, 27, Polo told Ogle County Sheriff's Police he was traveling west when he apparently fell asleep. Drexler said he awoke and saw a car ahead, and in attempts to stop he applied the brakes skidding off the road.

Drexler's car struck a mailbox. No tickets were issued. The accident occurred eight miles west of Oregon.

Driver cited

Fred L. Jahn, 19, Lee Center was arrested Friday night by Lee County Sheriff's Deputies in Franklin Grove.

Farm, business reports

Overall farm prices decline

Recession seen with inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Better prices for milk, tomatoes and other commercial vegetables cushioned an over-all drop in the prices farmers received for their products between mid-October and mid-November, the Agriculture Department reports.

But they could not offset declines in cattle, corn, soybeans, oranges and cotton prices enough to prevent a 1.5 per cent overall decline in the Crop Reporting Board's index, released Friday.

The index by mid-November of the prices farmers pay out for goods and services increased, however, by 1 per cent.

Using the average 1967 prices as a base, the prices received were 82 per cent higher for the period while prices paid were 78 per cent higher.

But the tight cost-price squeezes of the last year, after record gains in farm income during 1973, were illustrated by a 0.5 per cent rise in farm prices above November 1973 while farm living and business costs were 17 per cent higher.

Some indication of how those farm prices might translate into retail food prices in mid-November was given in the tables showing farm families paid an average of 3 per cent more for the food and tobacco they buy at retail.

Between the farm and supermarket, of course, are the costs and profits of middlemen processors, distributors and retailers — a share of the chain that USDA has said accounts for at least 80 per cent of this year's food price increases.

Prices received for meat animals fell another 4 per cent for the month ending Nov. 15, with the average for all beef cattle at $28.30 per 100 pounds of live weight, down from mid-October's $30.50.

Hog prices were down 40 cents to an average $36.70 per 100 pounds but lamb prices gained $1.80 to average $34.90.

Over all, meat prices at the farm were 23 per cent below a year earlier.

The over-all dairy products index increased 3 per cent, with most of the climb due to a rise in the price of milk sold to plants, from $8.25 per 100 pounds to $8.42. A year ago, the price was $8.66.

Wheat was up two cents to $4.87 a bushel, 67 cents above a year earlier.

But corn and soybeans hit by bad weather this year declined. The weather that forced prices up earlier, when supply problems were emphasized, caused quality problems that are reducing demand, along with lessened export pressure.

Corn fell to $3.32 a bushel from mid-October's record $3.45, although oats, barley and sorghum all rose by from 2 to 30 cents a bushel. Soybeans dropped from $8.17 a bushel to $7.44.

Claryce Holmberg, associate professor of Physical Education at Sauk Valley College, and nine SVC students were among the 2,500 health, physical education and recreation professionals and students attending the Illinois Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation's annual convention in Park Ridge during November.

Miss Holmberg said the students — all physical education majors at SVC — included Pam Garcia, Sterling; Mary Kavanaugh, Polo; Jodi Sell, Rock Falls; Thelma Schaver, Morris; Kalah Jenkins, Polo; Terry Jenkins, Polo; Joe Salvatori, Rock Falls; Beto Perez, Sterling, and John O'Brien, Sterling.

The meetings of the health-related fields focused on the latest methods and teaching techniques with emphasis on individualizing the learning process. Sessions for physical educators centered around increasing the effectiveness of the teaching of physical education activities and dance at all grade levels and the problems in interscholastic and intramural sports programs faced by men and women. Recreation groups discussed programs for the handicapped which were directly related to the nationwide program being initiated by the federal government.

Card of Thanks

Sincere thanks and appreciation for the many acts of kindness during the long illness of Richard Sondgeroth. We gratefully acknowledge your expressions of sympathy in our recent bereavement. A special thanks to the nurses, I.C. Unit, and aides at KSB, Dr. McFetridge and Dr. Hong, the ladies who prepared and served the meal, and to Father Donovan for his prayers. NEW YORK (AP) — Unsettled by predictions that the current recession may be the longest since World War II, Americans celebrated Thanksgiving with a sense of foreboding this past week.

Despite inflation, many knew they had reason to give thanks for past prosperity. But as to the future, there was greater anxiety than in many a year.

Not even the drop in turkey prices managed to relieve the uncertainty. To many it seemed more a quick than a trend of the times.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, for example, said the current recession may be the longest since World War II.

He also foresaw unemployment rising from its current 6 per cent of the work force to or above 7 per cent by spring.

The government's index of leading economic indicators plunged 1.3 per cent in October, following the record drop of 3.3 per cent in September and a .9 per cent August decline. The three-month slide in the index, which signals future economic activity, is the first since 1970 and sharpest fall in many years.

President Ford's budget proposals to Congress, revealed Tuesday, were higher than his original estimates and led to speculation that the administration had shifted its primary economic goal from solving inflation to easing the recession or perhaps even stimulating the economy.

Ford's $302.2 billion budget was above the $300 billion figure he had previously said was necessary to whip inflation, and included social welfare cuts seen as unacceptable to Congress.

And Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, told Congress that the nation needs "a policy of austerity" on oil if it is to solve the problem caused by high oil prices and the policies of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC).

Burns, dismissing the administration's voluntary conservation program as inadequate, added his voice to those calling for mandatory measures that may include substantially higher gasoline taxes, or taxes on imported crude oil and big auto horsepower.

But on the bright side, for the first time in six months, the nation scored a trade surplus in October, the Commerce Department reported. The seasonally-adjusted gain of $29.4 million compared with a deficit of $233.3 million the month previous and a surplus of nearly $600 million in October, 1973.

Record harvest of deer

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois deer hunters harvested a record 10,340 whitetails during the first three days of the six-day season. Good weather statewide was largely responsible for the record three-day opening; however, biologists in the Department of Conservation felt that if more corn had been harvested prior to the season, the totals would have gone even higher.

Department of Agriculture officials estimate 40 per cent of the corn crop still is unharvested.

Southern Illinois hunters bagged 4,746 deer, including 1,054 in Williamson County. An estimated 800 of these deer were taken from Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge lands. Pope County hunters took 773 deer during the three days.

Central Illinois shotguns accounted for 3,495 deer, with Pike County recording 338, and Adams County hunters accounting for 302.

Northern Illinois counties produced 2,069 deer, including 418 in Jo Daviess County, and 286 in Carroll County.

The hunt was marred by two reported accidents, neither of which was fatal, and 530 arrests, most for neglecting to wear vivid colored clothing during hunting hours, which is a legal mandate for those afield during the shotgun deer season.

Although biologists did not weigh deer this year, the largest known animal taken was a buck which weighed 285 pounds when field dressed, taken by Don Clark, Princeville, in Peoria County.

Last year, Illinois shotguns took 9,579 deer during the first three days of the season, and finished with a record total of 13,730 whitetails. The final three days of this year's season will be Dec. 13-15.

Unofficial county-by-county harvest for northern Illinois (2,099 deer) — Boone 12, Bureau 14, Carroll 286, DeKalb 18, Grundy 43, Henry 72, Jo Daviess 418, Kendall 11, La Salle 107, Lee 75, Marshall 120, McHenry 41, Ogle 149, Putnam 66, Rock Island 191, Stark 45, Stephenson 96, Whiteside 114, and Winnebago 71.

Citation following collision

A Franklin Grove youth was ticketed Friday after a two-car crash in the 100 block of South Galena Avenue. According to investigating Dixon Police, Kelly L. Gallagher, 16, Franklin Grove, was traveling north on Galena near an auto driven by Paul E. Flynn, 18, 622 Nachusa Ave., when Gallagher's car changed lanes, striking the Flynn auto.

No injuries were reported. Gallagher was cited for improper lane usage.

Traffic fatalities hit 11

By The Associated Press
The Illinois traffic death toll for the Thanksgiving weekend climbed to 11 today.

Three persons died in two accidents Friday night on U.S. 67 in west-central Illinois and one man was hit by a city bus and killed in Chicago.

Paul Conlee, 37, of Chicago Heights and Tina Davis, 8, of Park Forest, a passenger in his car, were killed in a head-on collision south of Monmouth.

The girl's brother, Larry, 13, and the driver of the second car, Mary Walters, 29, of rural Monmouth, were hospitalized.

In another accident on snow-slickened roads, Robert Hines, 37, of Carpentersville was killed when his car was struck by a semi-trailer truck on south of Macomb near Industry.

Youths nabbed for burglary

OREGON — Two Oregon youths were arrested Friday by Ogle County Sheriff's Police in connection with a burglary in Oregon in August.

Charged with burglary were Charles E. Hinkle, 18, and a 15-year-old juvenile boy. Hinkle was being held without bond in Ogle County jail. The juvenile was released to the custody of his parents.

The pair is accused of taking a ring from an Oregon home.

Hinkle was scheduled to appear in court Monday. The 15-year-old was scheduled to appear in juvenile court at a later date.

$80 theft being probed

Dixon Police are continuing their investigation into a mid-morning theft of $80 from the Clark Oil Co., 522 S. Galena Ave.

Mrs. Dorothy Miller, wife of the owner, called police after she noticed the theft of the money from her billfold.

She told authorities a young man with dark hair walked into the station to use the telephone. After he left, Mrs. Miller noticed the money missing and called police.

Authorities were seeking the youth, who reportedly left the station driving an older model white Volkswagen.

Nelson fire

NELSON — A fire Tuesday at the Helen McEleney residence has been blamed on a malfunction of a gas furnace. Members of the Rock Falls Fire Department responded to the call early Tuesday.

Mrs. McEleney was awakened at 3:15 a.m. by barking dogs. She called authorities after she looked out her bedroom window and saw flames inside a two-room cottage located on her property.

The building was vacant at the time. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

Heart transplant patient sips beer while relaxing

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Ivan Taylor, who was given a second heart in an historic operation this week, is out of bed, chatting with nurses and sipping cold beer, South African newspapers reported today.

Authorities at Groote Schuur Hospital said the 58-year-old mining engineer is making a rapid recovery and has an excellent appetite.

Supermarket price freeze chain sets

NEW YORK (AP) — The A&P supermarket chain has announced a price freeze on about 1,000 products bearing its own labels and instituted an "Early Warning System" on price increases in its stores across the nation.

The company said the price freeze on A&P private labels will extend at least until Jan. 1 and will cover over 1,000 items including bread, cheese, coffee, canned fruits and vegetables and frozen foods.

Under the early warning system, the company said, beginning Monday all stores will post weekly lists of products going up in price and the amount of the increase seven days before the change takes effect.

But medical bulletins have not said whether Taylor's system has accepted fully the 10-year-old girl's heart that made him the world's first person with two hearts or whether there are any signs of rejection.

Taylor's second heart was from Jennifer Schrickker, of Cape Town, killed by a car a few hours before the five-hour operation by Dr. Christiaan Barnard that began Sunday midnight.

Barnard, who performed the first heart transplant in 1967, said after the operation that Taylor had been suffering from terminal heart disease.

The child was buried Thursday at Cape Town's Maitland Cemetery during a windstorm that covered the area in a cloud of dust and sand. Among more than 200 persons who attended the funeral were students of the Kewtown School, which Jennifer attended.

Alec Bourne, manager of a company of morticians that arranged the burial, said the funeral was donated without charge. "All monies collected can be given to the family — they need it," he said.

Jennifer's father, Frederick Schrickker, 38, earns about $42 a week as a forklift operator.

After the operation, he said he was too poor to pay for the funeral, and scores of offers to help with expenses poured into Cape Town.

JUST TOURISTS—U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, center, and his wife, Nancy, tour the Forbidden City in Peking, China. The city, off limits to common people, is a large complex of pagoda-topped buildings. Kissinger has been shown a new area of the city on each of his seven visits to Peking. SIU admin. changes eyed CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Administration of the twin-campus Southern Illinois University system would be changed if recommendations outlined in a report released today are adopted by the school's trustees.

Ivan A. Elliott Jr., president of the board of trustees, said the report was compiled Tuesday by himself, two other trustees and two representatives from the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses.

Elliott said the report's major features are:

—A system council composed of the two campus presidents and the chief of the board of trustees' staff would be maintained.

—The staff chief would no longer have the power to interpret trustee policy for the presidents.

—The system council would represent the university before state and federal agencies instead of just the staff chief.

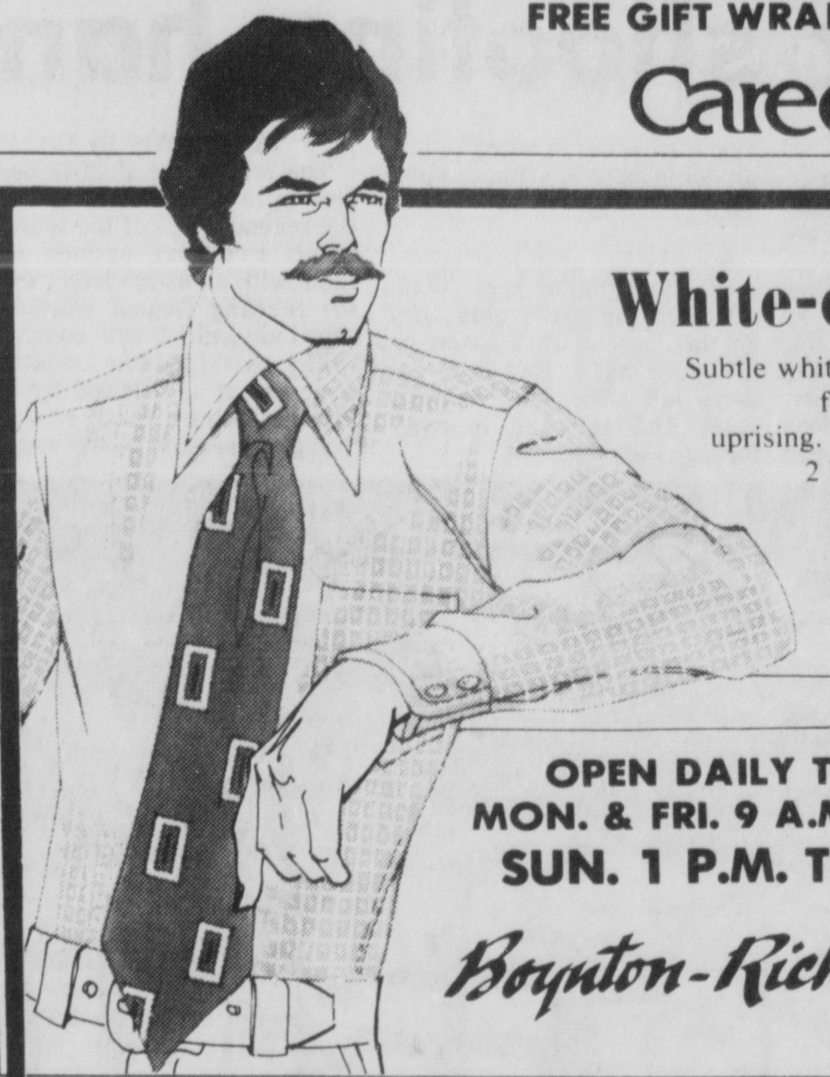

—The chief of staff's title would be changed to general secretary.

The report will be submitted to the trustees Dec. 13 for consideration.

Dixon drops 62-47 decision to Auburn

Poor shooting hampers Dukes in loss

By MIKE CUNIFF
Telegraph Sports Editor
ROCKFORD—It was a sem-blance of the kindergarten story "The Hare and the Tortoise" in the Dixon-Auburn basketball game at the Auburn Thanksgiving Tournament, here, Friday night. The Dukes started the game blazing hot, hitting three of their first four shots, while the Knights tripped along, shooting erratically and prodding on their offensive patterns.

But like the grammar school epic, the Knights kept themselves in the game until they got their second wind. Dixon, on the other hand, had little reserve left after their zooming start and faltered midway through the race.

Knights Win by 15
The result was a 62-47 decision in favor of the Knights in the second game of the tournament. Freeport opened the night with an 86-72 victory over the Sterling Golden Warriors. The tournament will conclude today with Dixon meeting Freeport at 1, followed by the Sterling-Auburn clash at 2:30. Tonight's session in the round-robin affair pits the Dukes versus Sterling at 7, with Auburn tangling with Freeport at 8:30. Ned Vail gave the Purple-and-White a 6-0 advantage, with 2:07 expired, by his first three shots from the floor. Vail, a senior guard, canned a pair of 15-foot jump shots and then added a fast-break layup (as-sist to Steve Breitka) with 5:53 left in the quarter.

Auburn turned the ball over its first three trips down the court and did not get on the scoreboard until John Hornbeck dropped in a 15-footer at the 4:55 mark. The Dukes out-scored the Knights 9-6 the rest of the way in the frame to assume a 15-8 lead.

Poor Shooting
But the poor shooting which was to ultimately prove fatal to Dixon had already made its appearance. The Dukes, after the three-for-four beginning, canned only three of their next dozen attempts in the quarter.

Breitka accounted for five points in the eight minutes by hitting a jump shot, a tip-in and one of a pair of charity tosses. Dixon went ice cold in the second quarter by netting only 4 of 17 shots. The Dukes had leads of 17-10 and 19-12, but the inconsistent shooting enabled Auburn to draw back within one (25-24) at half.

Jim Edwards, Breitka, Vail and Dave Moody got a basket apiece, while Edwards also picked up a pair of free throws for the 10 points Dixon accumulated in the quarter. Auburn got 16, including nine by 6'10" center Lester Thompson.

Thompson Hits Tip
Thompson hit a 15-foot jump shot, a layup and a left-handed tip of a missed Freeman Brown attempt in addition to three charity tosses in four tries. Auburn put the game away with a 20-8 bulge in the third quarter. Six different players put points in the scoring column for the Knights with Rick Skarpac, Keith Martin, Thompson and Dewayne Simon dumping in four each. Only two of the seven Auburn baskets came from more than five feet away.

Dave Moody, who was called for three offensive fouls in the first half, collected his fifth personal on a driving layup with 6:24 to go in the quarter, to end his night with six points. The loss of Moody opened up the Knight inside attack. Auburn exploited the Dixon weakness in the final frame by making all six of its buckets from close range. The starters began to filter out of the game in the late stages, especially for Dixon. Auburn kept its regulars in until less than a minute remained.

Flanagan Gets Four
Mike Flanagan entered the game for the Dukes and picked up a field goal and two free throws while Mike Marshall and John Ortgiesen got a basket apiece. Ed Fane tacked on a charity toss. Dixon ended the game with 19 buckets in 66 efforts for 29 per cent.

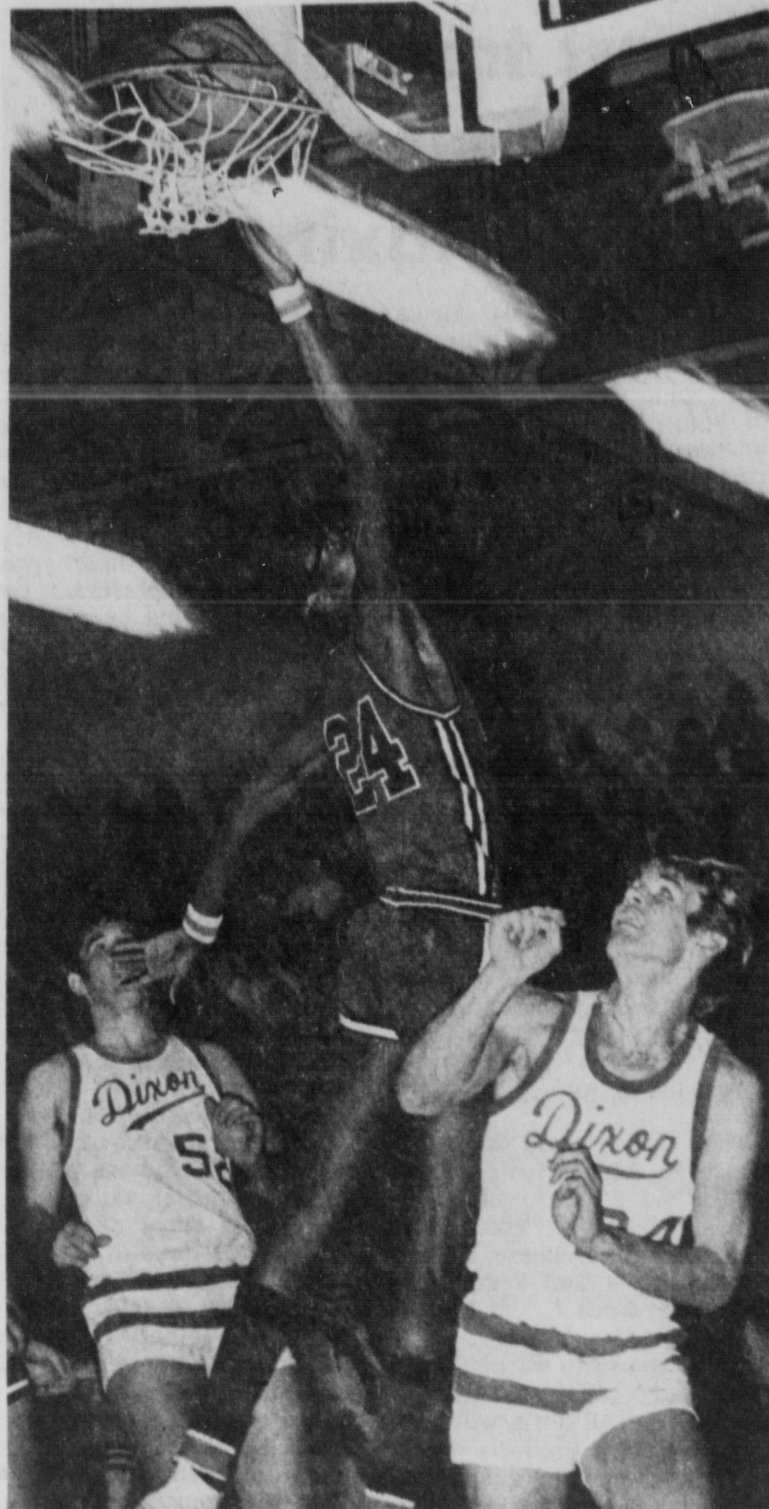

Among the starters, Edwards was 1-9, Vail 7-15, Breitka 6-20, Moody 2-8 and Kurt Wallace 0-4. Breitka pulled down nine offensive and six defensive boards to pace the Dukes in that department. The Breitka total of 15 was augmented by only 23 other grabs. Marshall, Vail and Fane had four each for the next best mark.

Vail was the leading point producer with 15, based on seven baskets and a solitary free throw. Breitka accounted for 13. Thompson paced Auburn with 23, with 10 field goals (19 attempts) and three charity tosses. Earl Grigsby chipped in with 10. Auburn was successful in 22 of 58 field goals for 38 per cent.

LESTER THOMPSON of Auburn was too late to block this field goal by Dixon's Ned Vail (foreground) early in the Knight-Duke basketball game in the Auburn Thanksgiving Tournament Friday night. Vail's basket gave the Dukes a 6-0 lead with just over two minutes expired in the contest but Dixon faltered, enabling the Knights to cop a 62-47 decision. (Telegraph Photo)

Dukelets win

STERLING—The Dixon Dukelets blistered the nets with seven field goals in 10 attempts while holding Auburn to just seven shots from the field in the fourth quarter, here, Friday night to eke out a 46-44 victory over the Auburn underclassmen in the Sterling Sophomore Tournament.

Jamie Anderson and Dave Zinnen combined their talents for the winning Dixon points. Anderson pressured Sterling into a turnover after four seconds left and the score tied. The Dukelets brought the ball into play with Zinnen hitting a 25-foot jump shot at the horn for the decisive digits.

Dixon had trailed all the way until the final basket in the contest despite hitting 51 per cent from the field. John Kemp led the Dukelet attack with 14 points while Anderson collected 13 and Zinnen 11.

Dixon outscored Auburn 15-6 in the final quarter. The Dukelets now take on the winner of the Sterling-Freeport game at 8.

Bothe was proving himself invaluable in the final period, taking possession of the offensive boards, giving the Clippers the second and third shot opportunities.

Flanagan wasn't done yet though, as it came back, earning five points in 30 seconds. The Falcons now held a 42-39 lead.

Fenwick put his team ahead 45-44 when he hit the hoop from the corner at 1:17. Steve Powers added another point with the first shot of a one-plus-one foul situation. Flanagan's Jim Braksick put one through from underneath with :25 left, to bring about stalemate once more.

The Fenwick missed his two charity shots at :07 in what looked to be Amboy's last chance. But Braksick missed the single free throw attempt he was awarded with four seconds on the clock. Fenwick showed great stamina in hitting his two last-second freethrows under such pressure and made Amboy the victor of the free throw duel.

Bothe was the leading scorer for the Clippers with 15, followed closely by Koch, who scored 14. Braksick was the only Falcon to score in double figures. He had 19 for the night.

Tonight Amboy will face the winner of the Rich South-Sandwich game in the championship contest starting at 8:30.

Marcos claim Newman title

By CONNIDETTMAN
Telegraph Sports Writer
STERLING—The coach crouches on the floor with his team surrounding him. With his chalk he draws the zone diagram on the floor and instructs his players on their positions. Only minutes hang on the clock as the whistle blows to resume play.

Like a lion stalking his prey the team takes the coaches advice and roars down the court to add to their slim five point lead with another bucket. Coach Bill Jenkins's advice held up as his Polo team held on to win the Newman Thanksgiving Holiday Tournament, here Friday night, with a 54-46 victory over the Oregon Hawks.

Tim Jenkins of Polo was voted the most valuable player of the tournament. Playing a strong defensive series, Jenkins also scored a total 10 points.

The Marcos jumped to a quick 4-0 lead with only 20 seconds off the clock on two long outside shots. The Hawks came on the floor with a cold defense and could not pull down a rebound.

Oregon allowed Polo to get too many shots at the basket. Once the Marcos got their hands on the ball they would move the ball around to find the open man. If the shot missed, Polo would pull down the rebound and get two, even three more shots at the basket.

The Hawks had trouble putting the ball through the hoop. Too often the ball would fall short of the target or would have too much power and go past its mark into the hand of a Polo player.

The Marcos scored an average of two points to the Hawks one point and by the end of the first quarter led Oregon, 23-9.

The Hawks came back in the second quarter to outscore the Marcos 10-7, but still had trouble containing the Polo rebounders. Polo continued to get several shots at the bucket but was not able to move inside for the close shots.

Oregon's defense started to come alive in the second quarter. The Hawks put a clamp on the lane and only once in the quarter did they allow the Marcos to move up the center for a short jumper.

Polo, who relied on their ability to penetrate the lane in the first quarter, now had to turn to their outside shooting to score the points. At first the Marcos could not connect with the outside shot but control of the ball gave them more time to look for the open outside man and more time to shoot the basket.

The two teams traded baskets through most of the quarter with each point sandwiched between numerous traveling violations and other turnovers. With half of the game part of history, Polo went to the locker rooms with a 30-19 lead.

Positioning on the court and around the basket kept the Marcos on top as they were again outscored by the Hawks in the third quarter. Polo kept moving the ball while watching and waiting for the one shot to give them a sure two-pointer. Even when the Marcos would not push the ball through the hoop, their positioning would give them a second chance with the ball at their own end of the court.

Oregon also began to move the ball well. The defense on their own end of the court began to warm up and they no longer had to rely strictly on the outside shots. Making use of several quick breaks, the Hawks moved in and picked up several points down the middle of the lane.

The Marcos watched their hefty 11 point lead get trimmed to only six points at the third quarter mark as the Hawks began to pick up some momentum. The score at the end of the quarter stood 38-31, the Hawks trailing by only three buckets.

Both teams slowed down in the final quarter. Polo had lost its scoring and the Hawks saw three times for fouls in under three minutes of play. Following Boesen in 16 markers was Jim Verbut with 16 markers on five buckets and six free throws.

Pat Lenhard and Mike Kapp added 10 points each for the winners.

Newman, paced by Brian Boesen with 17 points on eight buckets and one charity toss, landed the third place trophy in their own Holiday tournament with a 74-57 victory over Chadwick.

Boesen moved into foul trouble quickly as he was called threetimes for fouls in under three minutes of play. Following Boesen in 16 markers was Jim Verbut with 16 markers on five buckets and six free throws.

Ohio wins 85-43

OHIO—Six players reached double figures as the Ohio Bulldogs successfully opened their 1974-75 basketball campaign with an 85-43 thrashing of the Malden Musketeers, here, Friday night in a non-conference contest.

The Bulldogs shot 48 per cent for the game while dominating the boards. Ohio latched onto 57 rebounds while limiting the smaller Malden squad to only 14. Malden hit 31 per cent while having 22 turnovers.

Ohio zoomed to a 14-2 lead in the first quarter and was never threatened. Jim Brandau led a balanced Bulldog attack with 21 points, 14 rebounds and three assists. Al Dre-mann added 16 markers, 10 boards and a trio of assists.

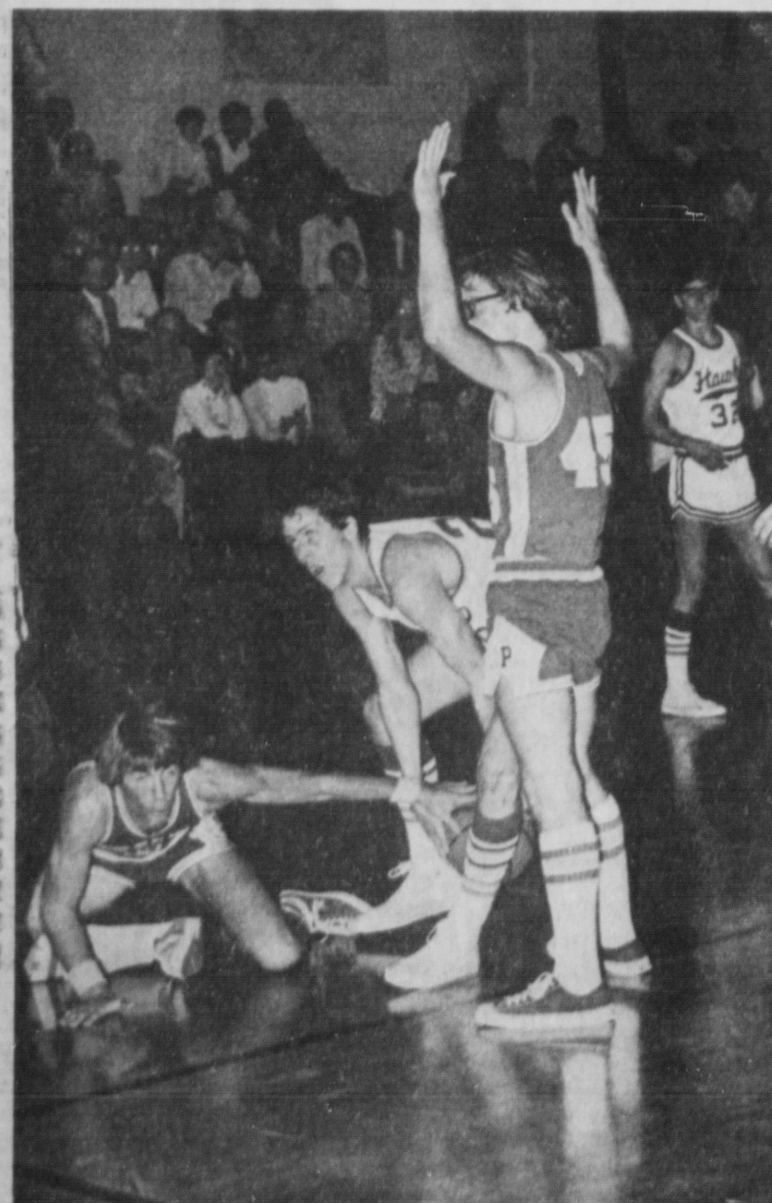

Dave Piper, Duane Blaine and Jim Ryan netted a dozen points each for Ohio. Piper also pulled down 17 rebounds and dished out six assists. Ryan had six grabs and seven assists. Tom Yucus was the other Bulldog in double digits with five field goals for 10 points in addition to seven rebounds.

Dan Carlson had 15 and Chuck Hultine a dozen for Malden which lost its fourth game of the season. Ohio takes its 1-0 record to Walnut on Tuesday.

Coal plant rejection could have spiraling effect

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. AP) — The rejection of Wood River as a site for a proposed coal liquefaction plant could be a bad sign in the state's efforts to attract other such projects, a top state official says.

Illinois had offered to provide $11.1 million for the $75 million project if Hydrocarbon Research, Inc., the firm planning to build and operate the plant, and the federal government selected a site in Illinois.

But early this month the Office of Coal Research (OCR), a branch of the U.S. Department of the Interior, announced that the plant would be built in Catlettsburg, Ky.

When Gov. Daniel Walker announced the Illinois offer, he said Kentucky was ready to put $8 million into the project if it were built in that state. Oklahoma, a third state in the running, had made an offer of $2 million, he said.

"Our followup with OCR indicated that in spite of our greater monetary commitment, the total project cost was greater in Illinois," said Theodore N. Silverman, director of the Department of Business and Economic Development.

His department is responsible for seeking out coal research projects that could be placed in Illinois and would be eligible for a share of the $70 million in bond money approved by the General Assembly last spring for coal research.

"Some of the other cost factors were higher labor rates and the relative productivity of labor forces," Silverman said in an interview. "If that is the case, it doesn't jibe with our appraisal of the situation."

Silverman said that he had received information from Hydrocarbon Research and from the U.S. Department of Labor indicating that labor rates in the metropolitan St. Louis area were near the national average.

"We are concerned because if we are terribly out of line, it could have possible implications for other projects," Silverman said. "We are anxious to see if any conditions exist that should be looked into."

Silverman conceded that labor rates and construction and operating costs in the Wood River area would have been about $2 million higher than in Kentucky, but he maintained that the difference between the offers made by each state more than wiped out the extra expense.

Silverman and others close to the Walker administration suggest that there may have been political reasons for selection of Catlettsburg over Wood River.

Republican Sen. Marlowe Cook of Kentucky was embroiled in a tight race for re-election, and the announcement that the liquefaction project would be in Kentucky came just a few days before the November election.

"There's just too much pointing to a political decision to ignore," complained one Walker aide.

Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., said he had written Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton asking for a detailed explanation of the reasons for selecting the Kentucky site.

"They said it more nearly met their specifications," Price said. "I don't go along with that."

The Illinois congressman said he was suspicious when the announcement was made right before the election, with no advance warning to Illinois. But he said his suspicions "are just a surmise on my part."

Silverman said, "It is quite possible there were political factors. If that was the case and OCR is going to make political decisions, the country has problems."

Coal, particularly the millions of tons of high-sulfur Illinois coal still in the ground, has attracted increased public attention in recent months because of the energy crisis.

Experts have said, however, that ways must be developed to convert Illinois coal into usable liquid or gas which will burn more cleanly and protect the environment.

The coal research bond issue was passed on the theory that if the demonstration plants are built, and the research conducted in Illinois, taxpayers eventually will reap a return on their investment.

"You could develop the technology in Tahiti," Silverman acknowledged. "The advantage of bringing the plants to Illinois in the demonstration stage is that during the development of technology the state, community and the people will be in on the early stages to learn what their role is. When commercialization comes, they will be able to deal with it."

Silverman said one adjustment the state will have to make is the development of appropriate environmental laws to deal with the demonstration liquefaction and gasification plants.

"By having demonstration plants here, we can protect the public interest," he said. "We will be working with companies from the drawing board stage on and will be maintaining standards."

Silverman and state Sen. Kenneth Buzbee, D-Carbondale, said money spent on the construction and operation of a demonstration plant will filter into the local economy.

"The average demonstration plant would mean two or three coal mines," Silverman said.

But is it worth millions of dollars of state money to lure coal research demonstration projects to Illinois?

"There is no question in my mind," Silverman said. "There was no question in the legislature's mind."

But I don't think there is any question about the fact that Congress and everyone else considers it a high-risk investment," he added.
